Welcome Back to School
At Burnett we Champion Students and their Learning

Every student, every day, whatever it takes!

Every child deserves a “champion,” someone who will advocate and promote a child’s unique abilities and skills. A champion is someone who will never give up on the child, someone who understands that through the power of their advocacy and mentorship they can help a child reach and maybe even exceed their biological potential.

The champion has unwavering hope and faith in the child in good times and bad. The “champion” helps fuel a child’s desire to be the best they can be. For the child, regardless of circumstances, what they see in the eye of their “champion” is somebody that believes in them. It does not matter if the “champion” is a teacher, parent, or friend.

The child’s abilities and successes are not a reflection on the “champion,” but the opportunities afforded the child are. As such, the champion’s focus is on the willful creation of a world with infinite challenges and opportunities that lead to infinite possibilities for personal growth, self-expression, and success.

Being a child’s “champion” is not an intuitive task, it requires practice, reflection and continued development. Praising and supporting a child are only the initial steps. Activating motivation, effective communication, and encouraging emotional intelligence are vital to success. To acquire the capacity to mentor these things requires education, reflection, and continued development.

A person who “champions” a child is like air in a room they go unnoticed most of the time, but they are absolutely necessary for a child. “Champions” should go so far as to have an irrational belief in a child, in their ability, their capacity, and their potential. For if the child starts to believe it to be true about himself or herself, they will become what they believe.

At Burnett we “Champion students!”

Attendance for first week
Please take daily attendance on paper in homeroom and submit to the office as soon as possible so our office staff can begin making phone calls.

As student schedule corrections will continue early this week, the counsellors will be contacting students with schedule changes. To allow for these changes, please do not use MyEd to record attendance on Wed & Thurs. On Friday, September 9, teachers will begin taking attendance each class in MyEd. Parents will be notified by the automatic system if students are absent from class.

Teachers, as MyEd is a live data base, class lists are accurately found there. Please do not allow students into your class if they are not on your MyEd class list – send them to their scheduled class or the office.
